1. Introduction

The Constitution of South Africa, 1996, by providing a statutory right of access on request to any record held by the state as well as access to records held by private bodies, entrenches the fundamental right to information. The Promotion of Access to Information Act 2 of 2000 ('the Act'), which came into effect on 9 March 2001, seeks to advance the values of transparency and accountability in South Africa and provides the mechanism for requesters to exercise and protect their constitutional right to request access to a record.

The Act establishes the following statutory rights of requesters to any record of a private body if:

- That record is required for the exercise or protection of any of his or her legal rights;
- That requester complies with all the procedural requirements; and
- Access is not refused in terms of any ground referred to in the Act.

In terms of the Act, private bodies are required to publish a manual to assist requesters who wish to request access to a record. In addition, it explains how to access, or object to, personal information held by the Company, or request correction of personal information, in terms of paragraphs 23 and 24 of the Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 (the "POPI Act"). The PAIA and POPI Acts give effect to everyone's constitutional right of access to information held by the private sector or public bodies if the record or personal information is required for the exercise or protection of any rights. If a public body lodges a request, the public body must be acting in the public interest. Requests shall be made in accordance with the prescribed procedures, at the rates provided. The forms and tariff are dealt with in section 6.

2. Availability of the Sybrin PAIA Manual and entry points for requests

This document serves as the Sybrin Manual ('the Manual') in accordance with the requirements of Section 51 of the Act to facilitate access to records held by Sybrin. A copy of this Manual is available to the public in a Portable Document Format (PDF) version on the website of Sybrin at www.sybrin.com or on request from the Information Officer referred to in this Manual. Sybrin endorses the spirit of the Act and believes that this Manual will assist requesters in exercising their rights.

3. Request for Information

The Act provides that a requester is only entitled to access to a record if the record is required for the exercise or protection of a right. Only requests for access to a record, where the requester has satisfied the Information Officer that the record is required to exercise or protect a right, will be considered. A requester may act in different capacities in making a request for a record. This will influence the amount to be charged when a request has been lodged.

Requesters may make a request as:

- A personal requester who requests a record about him/herself;

- An agent requester who requests a record on behalf of someone else with that person's consent and where it is required for the protection of that person's legal right;
- A third-party requester who requests a record about someone else with that person's consent and where it is required for the protection of that person's legal right; and
- A public body who may request a record if:
 - It fulfils the requirements of procedural compliance;
 - The record is required for the exercise or protection of a right; and
 - No grounds for refusal exist.
